LeConte Wealth Management's Hoy Grimm and Kevin Painter Recognized Nationally in Top 10 Club of Highest-Producing Commonwealth Financial Network Advisers Recent E. Tenn. Survey and Customer Focus Attributed to Growth and Ranking in Tough Economy

Alcoa, Tenn. – Out of more than 1,200 Commonwealth financial advisers in the United States, Hoy Grimm and Kevin Painter, managing partners at LeConte Wealth Management, ranked fifth and sixth respectively in the Top 10 Club for highest-producing Commonwealth advisers for Preferred Portfolio Services (PPS) assets under management in June. The PPS ranking includes new clients and new assets brought to the firm in that month.

During June 2009, Grimm and Painter established nine new client relationships at LeConte Wealth Management for a total of more than $9.3 million of client assets.

“To be recognized as one of the best among our peers in such a difficult market environment is a testament to the unique, client-focused approach of LeConte Wealth Management,” said Hoy Grimm. “We’ve remained dedicated to our clients’ goals during this faltering economy, and as a result, many East Tennessee investors are choosing our firm to guide a serious approach toward their financial management.”

In February 2009, LeConte Wealth Management conducted a financial survey of East Tennesseans in the following counties: Anderson, Blount, Knox, Loudon, Monroe and Sevier counties.

“By asking East Tennesseans their opinions and perceptions about various personal finance issues – particularly in this troubled economy – LeConte Wealth Management was able to respond strategically to local consumers’ top concerns,” said Kevin Painter. “Being distinguished in the Top 10 Club validates to us that a personalized, face-to-face approach toward financial planning is valued by people who are serious about managing their wealth.”
